
Affiliate Module Showcase?

Posted by DanL - 2008/08/06 21:43

We have just begun to implement the Infusion Affiliate Module -- I'd love to be able to take a look at someone's site who has really coaxed this module to it's limit.

Nice to blaze trails from time to time; but if there is a road that someone has already paved with this application I would be happier still to follow your footsteps.

So, please let me know if you have a site where you are using the affiliate module and if you would be happy to "show and tell".

As I said, we have just begun our own. "I'll show you mine if you show me yours.":blush:

=====

Re:Affiliate Module Showcase?

Posted by KLeavitt - 2008/08/06 21:52

Hi Dan,

The best way to set up the Affiliate module really depends on what your model looks like and how you want to market your business through affiliates.

Having worked at Infusionsoft in the past, I know best practice for affiliate marketing and also and have plenty of experience seeing how others are using the affiliate module.

Give me a call or shoot an email and I'll be happy to have a look at what you're doing and give you a few recommendations.

Kyle

=====

Re:Affiliate Module Showcase?

Posted by MicahM - 2008/08/08 15:13

We did this for a client last month. I don't know if he has put more copy on the back-end but the sign-up process works well. <http://www.accountingpower.com.au/affiliates.php>

It's just handing the info back with a link that is ready to go after someone signs up.

Hope this helps.

=====

Re:Affiliate Module Showcase?

Posted by swaincott - 2008/08/09 07:37

Hi Dan,

We have also in the past helped our clients with their affiliate modules and built them from scratch. It really depends on what you would like it to do and how you want that achieved.

We can do a free consult and try to guide you the best way possible to get the results you would like to achieve.

We can help you customize this for your need :)

Please visit our site or shoot us an email if you like.

Sharon Waincott

S&N Services

www.snsvcinc.com

