
New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by WealthyZealot - 2008/09/18 22:30

Has anyone had the sweet experience of browsing the new Infusionsoft GUI on a new iPhone? It is simply amazing. We are talking full functionality. I don't own an iPhone (yet), but after holding every ounce of Infusionsoft automation in a 4.5" X 2.4" phone, I've gotta get one. Talk about running your business from anywhere!
<http://community.infusionsoft.com/images/fbfiles/images/Infusioniphone.png>

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by JManna - 2008/09/19 13:18

I have an iPhone 3G and I have to say that it rocks that I can quickly log in and use Infusionsoft anywhere.

However, allow me to be objectionable:

- All the Javascript is a bit much for the iPhone to handle right now and causes a bit of latency.
- Calendar doesn't function correctly, could be a Safari issue or the limited Javascript functions of the iPhone itself.
- Speed: Even on 3G, the size of the full page contents is slightly faster than dial-up.

On the contrary, it DOES work for a majority of the functions that an everyday user of Infusionsoft and is great to have that accessibility.

I did hear a lil' rumor that we're working on a native iPhone application. (Shhh!)

~Joe

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by CLee - 2008/09/23 00:04

Supposedly the nightly builds of Safari have a new super fast Javascript engine called SquirrelFish Extreme. Supposed to be faster than Chrome now. I'm not sure if there is a different version of Safari for the iPhone but if not & it's one and the same, I'm guessing some of those latency problems will be alleviated.

I have been using Chrome some with Infusionsoft & it seems quite snappy so far. The one area I've had issues with the HTML editor - can't pull up the HTML Source Editor window.

Cheers,

Chris

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by liferealized - 2009/07/01 11:49

Hey Guys,

We have an iPhone app coming out that connects to infusionsoft! Check it out at <http://ifusionconnect.com>

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by carlobee - 2009/07/26 21:55

i have an iPhone 3G but i still don't have this!! got to download it!
http://storeyourpicture.com/images/signature_webSelling.jpg

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by JManna - 2009/08/20 01:22

It's well worth the value. I have it and it's amazing how simple it is to use. :)

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by jmoskowitz - 2009/08/21 04:38

Is this out yet? The website is unclear if yes or "coming soon." Where is the link to DL it?

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by InfusionPros.com - 2009/08/30 19:49

go to your app store in your phone and search for phonefusion or infusionsoft. It should pop up and you can buy it.

steve

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by galaxy - 2009/09/17 07:39

> go to your app store in your phone and search for phonefusion or infusionsoft.

Neither of those returns any results, either in the app store on my phone or in itunes on my PC.

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by liferealized - 2009/09/17 07:45

Hi Guys,

We have updated <http://ifusionconnect.com> with a link to purchase the application. Just click the buy now button. You can also click the link below to have your browser open itunes.

<http://www.itunes.com/app/ifusionconnect>

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by CLee - 2009/09/17 08:15

Wish you guys had named it starting with "infusion". Definitely a barrier to sales.

And would definitely like to see more screenshots. The $9.99 price tag is a bit high to just go on faith.

Good luck with it!!

Chris

=====

Re:New Infusionsoft | New iPhone

Posted by liferealized - 2009/09/17 08:20

Thanks for the feedback Chris. Sorry about the naming, we didn't want to infringe on any trademarks that infusionsoft may already have.

We have a new verison of the app coming out shortly with new features for viewing notes, tags and adding infusionsoft contacts directly to your iPhone contact list. You can also keep up with the latest news on the app by signing up at <http://ifusionconnect.com>.

Thanks again,
James

=====