
Verify Email Addresses on Webforms

Posted by DustinL - 2008/10/04 12:22

I saw on the new ideas.infusionsoft.com (Which is AWESOME!B) THANKS BRAD) that a few people were wanting the web forms to verify email address, this can be done with a simple java script on your website, attached is the documentation for it, how to etc... Not only does it check for email, but you can use this to check for the required fields, this will give a user a pop up box with the error, instead of being redirected to infusionsoft required fields page. That way the person doesn't have press the back button to go back to your web site.

Hey Dustin,

Great code - very well documented, too. I set this up for a test in about 5 minutes and I'm very pleased that I didn't need to adjust a thing. Thanks for posting it!

Just wanted to say thank you for the Email validation code. I have only been in web design for 3 months and your code with instructions were very easy to use. Works perfectly!
